Portfolio Objective

The Imara MET Equity Fund is a general equity portfolio. The Fund largely mirrors the successful Imara Houseview investment policy and may consist of financially sound equity securities, property shares and property related securities listed on exchanges and assets in liquid form. In selecting securities for this portfolio, where possible, the manager shall seek to sustain high long-term capital growth.

Managers Comment

The fund outperformed the JSE All Share during the month with a return of 1.3% compared to the Alsi return of 0.8% mainly due to price increases in rand hedges as the rand weakened by 4% against the USD in August.

Global markets have been experiencing heightened volatility lately due to tapering concerns by the Fed. The accompanied rise in US treasury yields have been the main catalyst behind the sell-off in emerging market fixed income assets and corresponding currency weakness within these markets.

On the economic front, GDP in the Euro area expanded 0.30% in the second quarter of 2013 over the previous quarter with Germany and France leading the recovery. Growth in the USA remains on track with auto and home sales remaining buoyant. Weaker than expected home sales data in July reiterated that expansion is not rampant, which supports the argument for a measured approach in tapering of QE.

Despite local inflation breaching the upper target range, we expect the SARB to allow some drift above the upper band due to a slowdown in GDP. This is partially evidenced by a slowdown in consumer expenditure, illustrated in the rather disappointing recent results from SA credit retailers. Reported GDP growth for the second quarter was 3% q/q which was at the lower end of the expected range. Underlying growth remains well below trend growth with a large contraction in mining output. Manufacturing output performed better than expected assisted by the weakening rand. It's expected that GDP will average 1.8%-2.0% for 2013 and for interest rates to only potentially start moving up in the second quarter of next year at the earliest.

The JSE All Share reached another all-time high in August, spurred by higher commodity prices and a weak rand. Industrials and financials in general are underperforming the market as sector rotation into cyclical counters is gaining momentum.
