While Botswana's retail sector is nearing saturation, we believe that Sefalana will continue to register growth anchored by the group's diversified revenue streams (geographically and product offering). The company continues to be proactive with regard to expanding operations outside Botswana (currently has 14 stores in Namibia - which contribute 29% to group revenue and 10% to PBT, with a medium target of 20 stores). The expected profit impact of both the aforementioned transactions is accretive from year one, with EPS forecast to increase to 70.67t (FY 16: 67.60t) post acquisitions.

Although the Lesotho acquisition is pricier than the South Africa investment with its one year forward PER of 9.00x vs. 8.32x for South Africa, both transactions are at a discount to the peer average of 22.62x. Sefalana's strategy to invest into a consortium that invests in an existing network of retail and wholesale outlets, shields it from some execution and penetration risks normally associated with market entry, by virtue of the entities already having an established customer base and market share; and local knowledge of the market.

The offer price of BWP 12.60 puts the offer shares at a PER of 18.64x and P/Sales of 0.73x - Sefalana's outstanding shares trade at a PER of 20.71x and P/Sales of 0.82x while its peer, Choppies, is trading at multiples of 37.55x and 0.53x, respectively. The offer at BWP 12.60 is at an 8.99% and a 10% discount to the theoretical ex-rights offer price (TERP) of BWP 13.84 and share price of BWP 14.00, respectively, we therefore recommend holders FOLLOW their rights.
